Disputes Treasury Decision

The $1 million general obligation industrial bond issue proposal for Town & Country Shoes, Inc., will be advanced as planned, despite recent U. S. Treasury Department announcements, William Hall, industrial development director, said Tuesday.

According to an Associated Press release Monday, the Treasury plans to withdraw tax exemptions on such bond issues.

Claim by Treasury

The Treasury contends, among other things, that industrial development bonds "complete with regular municipal bonds and thus drive up their cost. The result is higher property tax, sales tax and state income tax."

Hall said, "This is ridiculous. In Missouri the opposite has been proven to be the case. If costs go up, it's due to the Federal Reserve's discounting rules on regular loans."

The Treasury action is also aimed at plugging what it considers a tax loophole by making bond purchasers pay tax on their profits.

Hall said his information seemed to indicate that Treasury guns were being aimed at revenue bonds, rather than general obligation industrial bonds.

The two were paid off in the same manner. A revenue bond, however, is one which is based on a company's ability to pay, Hall said.

"We feel we can go ahead here. The industrial bonds are backed by the company and the city. We feel we're on safe ground," he said.

Blow to Towns

He also said that if the tax exemption feature comes off industrial bonds, smaller communities will lose their source of attraction for industry. "We wouldn't be able to raise the money here for Town & County, or Rival for that matter, just by going out and asking for it," he asserted.

"We've restricted industrial obligation bonds in Sedalia to local industry. If the Treasury deprives these bonds of their tax exempt feature, it would go exactly contrary to the (Johnson) administration's aim of making rural areas more attractive to industry," he said.

Hall stressed that the Treasury's move would probably have no effect on general obligation type financing.

As far as Town & Country is concerned, he said, "We have a firm commitment from a bonding company for sale of the bonds. We feel we can go ahead regardless of Treasury action." He added that the Treasury action applies to bonds committed to sale after March 15.

He also said general obligation bond issues are paid off through lease payments made by the company for which the bond issue has been approved.

"The company's lease payments take care of the bonds, the interest and the reserve fund," Hall said, adding (See DISPUTES, Page 4.)

Mrs. Wallace Is Scheduled For Surgery

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Doctors decided to operate on Gov. Lurleen Wallace again today, this time to drain what they called a "localized abscess" in the abdomen.

A hospital bulletin said the surgery would be performed about noon. An Aide said a further report would be issued after the operation.

The statement said the general condition of the governor, who has undergone surgery for cancer three times in two years, "remains about the same as yesterday."

Doctors said Monday Mrs. Wallace was suffering from an abdominal infection and they were concerned about it.

Student Orchestra Concert Is Tonight

The Smith-Cotton High School Little Symphony Orchestra, directed by Mrs. Carl Schrader, will present its Mid-Winter Concert tonight at 8 p.m. in the high school's auditorium.

Select groups from the vocal department will also present special numbers during the program.

Victory So Soon?

Richard Nixon and his wife Pat appear to be enjoying a victory party rather than a final campaign rally as they were doused with confetti at his headquarters in Manchester, N.H., on Monday. The voting in the New Hampshire primary is today. (UPI)

New Hampshire Voters Cast Ballots in Primary Election

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — New Hampshire voted beneath overcast skies today on Richard M. Nixon's Republican presidential nomination quest and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's Democratic challenge to President Johnson.

There were early indications the turnout might be light for the nation's opening presidential primary.

The first trickle of ballots counted in tiny towns in the White Mountains sent Nixon and McCarthy into miniature leads.

Those ballots, from Waterville Valley and Hart's Location, gave Nixon 15 votes; New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller 4 write-in ballots.

McCarthy picked up eight Democratic votes in Waterville Valley; New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy two write-ins. Johnson's name was written in on the only Democratic ballot cast at Hart's Location.

Late Snow Hits State To South

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A vicious late winter snow storm gave a staggering punch to southeast Missouri and southeastern Kansas.

Missouri got the worst blow with paralyzing snows of up to 16 inches at Roaring River, 55 miles southwest of Springfield. Carthage and Joplin were hard hit. Snow drifts of four to five feet stalled vehicles and countless persons struggled to work on foot.

There was 11 inches of snow at Springfield, Mo., and seven at Pittsburg, Kan. Amounts tapered off to the west. Some roads in the Pittsburg area were closed or open only to one way traffic.

The storm began Monday afternoon, continued through the night with strong winds and began letting up this morning.

In Missouri the snow belt extended across the southern portion and eastward from Joplin to north of St. Louis.

Major industries, public schools and colleges closed at Springfield. Travel was practically at a standstill. One newsman, for example, said he walked six miles to work. Drifts piled up to four or five feet.

The same conditions plagued Carthage, Mo. By 9 a.m. the skies were clearing there and the 10 inches of snow was beginning to melt.

In Joplin most streets were blocked. The downtown area had eight inches of snow and the airport six. Some business and industrial plants shut down.

Telephone Auction of Porkers

Porkers were sold to 13 major packers Tuesday morning by telephone auction. The auction which was started in January and discontinued until proper facilities could be arranged, will be held once a week and eventually daily.

Over 1,000 hogs were sold from Marshall and Sedalia by the auctioneer located in Marshall. The sale Tuesday was for farmer-owned hogs and was operated from the Missouri Pacific Stockyards on North Park, under the direction of Even before the ballot casting began, Nixon acknowledged that "gamesmanship" would be a major factor in determining who were the winners and who the losers in the lead-off voting of the 1968 presidential race.

Nixon's only Republican challenge was the late-starting write-in move for Rockefeller and the only real question for the former vice president is the margin by which he runs ahead. "I figure this," Nixon said, "if we win 2 to 1 I'll be happy."

There may have been a bit of gamesmanship in that. By forecasting Rockefeller would get 30 per cent or more of the vote, Nixon was setting a target far higher than that chosen by the New Yorker's supporters. Former Gov. Hugh Gregg, promoting the write-in, said 15,000 Rockefeller votes would amount to success in New Hampshire. Nixon said that could not be considered a serious estimate and had to be rated too low.

The same thing was going on in the Democratic race. McCarthy said he hoped to obtain 30 per cent of the vote and added it was "probably a little too much" to forecast a victory in his campaign of protest against Johnson's course in the Vietnam war.

Johnson's promoters said McCarthy might get up to 40 per cent of the vote against the write-in effort being staged for the President.

McCarthy men acknowledged they needed a substantial showing in New Hampshire to get the campaign contributions they will need for the primaries still ahead. New Hampshire has cost McCarthy's campaign organization at least $150,000 probably more. Gov. John W. King, chief spokesman for the Johnson effort (See HAMPSHIRE, Page 4.)

Law Officers At a Seminar About Drugs

Six Sedalia and area law enforcement officers attended a training seminar in Kansas City Monday, co-sponsored by the Food and Drug Administration's Bureau of Drug Abuse Control and the Missouri Peace Officers Association.

Attending were Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax, Sedalia Police Lt. Jewell Riley, Officers Clarence Harrell, Larry Melton and James Tuttle and Morgan County Sheriff J. T. Hull.

The seminar began at 8 a.m. and concluded with a question and answer period at 4:30. It covered such topics as drug identification, handling of drug abuser, local investigations of drug traffic and a discussion of the Missouri State Potent Drug Law.

Larry Hunt, assisted by Don Naylor.

The first sales topped the market at Kansas City and St. Joseph, and were a little under the St. Louis market spokesmen said. The program is designed to introduce new efficiencies and economies in the route from producer to consumer.

Livestock Association General Manager Jim Halsey indicated that topmost prices would be attainable with the winning of complete confidence by the buyers in the sellers classification according to grade and weight.

For the producer there is the advantage of competitive bidding and the smaller producer enjoys the same advantage as the larger. For the packer, the costs of traveling buyers will be eliminated. It was also pointed out that the consumer could eventually benefit from the reduced fix costs of bringing the product to him.

Rusk Sees No Hope For a Peace Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today he can offer no present hope that Hanoi is interested in a peaceful settlement of the Vietnam war.

He also balked, despite heavy pressure from Sen. J. W. Fulbright, at pledging consultation with Congress prior to a presidential decision on whether to send more troops to Vietnam.

There have been reports President Johnson is considering sending up to 200,000 additional men. A total of 525,000 is now authorized.

Rusk told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee: "There is room for indignation over the repeated rejection by Hanoi of even the smallest step toward peace."

Rusk commented in his second day of testimony before the committee, headed by Fulbright, a critic of the administration's Vietnam policy.

Rusk told the committee: "I cannot lead you to hope that we see at the present time any clear interest by Hanoi in a decisions will determine "whether we go either down the road to all-out war or to a negotiated solution."

Fulbright, an Arkansas Democrat who has long been critical of the administration's Vietnam war policy, asked Rusk at one point: "Do I understand you have no intention of consulting with this committee?"

"I told you the President has not reached his conclusions," Rusk replied. "There is therefore no knowledge of what actions may be required by the Congress."

Fulbright said he understood this to mean "you have no intention of consulting with us prior to reaching that decision."

Rusk insisted that "senior members of this committee have been consulted" and that the hearings of the past two days have made their views "pretty well apparent."

In other words, Fulbright retorted, "your position is that you already know our views."

"We know a great deal," Rusk said.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, suggested that Fulbright could offer a resolution in the Senate that no additional troops be sent to Vietnam.

But Fulbright said this was impossible "when we've had no indication of what the administration plans. You've got the cart before the horse."

Jets Hit Targets In North

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes knifed through overcast skies Monday on 76 missions against targets in North Vietnam, including another attack on the radio communications station 10 miles southeast of Hanoi.

One Air Force F4 Phantom was downed during the raids, a spokesman said, and the two crewmen are missing. It was the 808th U.S. combat plane announced lost in the air war against the Communist North.

Hanoi claimed two U.S. planes were shot down during Monday's raids. Navy A6 Intruder pilots attacked the radio communications receiving station with 500-pound bombs, using their radar to attack through the 2,000-foot ceiling. They reported their bombs were on target and said they also hit a nearby anti-aircraft missile site.

The radio station had been hit for the first time Feb. 10.

The American fighter-bombers ranged from the Yen Bai airfield 78 miles northwest of Hanoi to the southern panhandle with these other major targets: The Dong Trieu army barracks 46 miles northeast of Hanoi, the Nam Dinh barracks 45 miles southwest of Haiphong, the Ha Dong barracks 8 miles southwest of Hanoi, the Thanh Hoa thermal power plant and the Cam Pha transformer station.

Over South Vietnam, the Air Force's giant B52 bombers flew eight raids late Monday and today, including six against North Vietnamese troops ringing the U.S. Marines' Khe Sanh combat base in the northwestern corner of the country.

The bombs from the high-flying Stratofortresses crashed into suspected enemy positions within two miles of the besieged Marine base.

The other B52 strikes were against Viet Cong fortifications 25 miles northeast of Saigon and in the central coastal plains 270 miles northeast of Saigon.

The ground war dwindled into a lull for the first time since the Communist command launched the lunar new year offensive Jan. 31.

In the only ground action of any size reported Monday by the U.S. Command, troops of the 196th Light Infantry Brigade scored a lopsided victory in a 7½-hour coastal battle, killing 78 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese at a cost of only two Americans killed and 29 wounded.

The battle was on the coastal plains near Tam Ky, 113 miles southeast of the DMZ. The GLs called in reinforcements and jet fighter-bombers to stagger the enemy for the second time in three days in the area. On Saturday American infantrymen killed 129 enemy troops near Tam Ky; no Americans were killed and only 18 wounded.

Put Off Challenge In Thieu's Regime

By BARRY KRAMER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — A move to force the South Vietnamese House of Representatives to consider a no confidence vote against the government has been killed for the time being, House officials said today.

The officials announced that a number of representatives had withdrawn their signatures from a petition which would have put on the House agenda a discussion of whether or not to call a vote of no confidence.

Last week, backers of the petition had collected more than 50 signatures, well above the one-third of the 135 members required to bring the petition before the house.

Several politicians thought the government of President Nguyen Van Thieu had pressured some of the representatives into withdrawing their signatures.

A few signers said they had decided this was not the proper time to bring a motion of no confidence. They added, however, that they could decide to sign again later.

Meanwhile, informed sources said today the Thieu government plans to remove as many as 15 of South Vietnam's 44 province chiefs. The government announced Monday that six province chiefs had been fired.

'Leniency' For Crewmen In Return For Apology

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea said today it will deal with the captured crew of the USS Pueblo "leniently to a certain extent" if the United States "makes a due apology for its crimes and gives assurance against the recurrence of similar hostile acts."

The North Korean position was carried in a commentary broadcast by the official Pyongyang radio.

After repeating its charges that the Pueblo intruded into North Korean waters and committed acts of espionage, and citing "confessions" purported to have been made by its crew, the commentary went on: "The criminal acts perpetrated by the crew of the armed spy ship are grave. But heavier responsibility rests with the U.S. authorities which ordered them to conduct espionage and hostile acts against our country."

"Taking this into consideration, we may deal with the question as far as concerning the crew of the Pueblo leniently to a certain extent, if the U.S. side makes a due apology for its crimes and gives assurance against the recurrence of similar hostile acts. This is a stand for solving the question in a practical way, and there is a precedent for this."

The commentary did not say what the precedent was.

Inflation Talk Abounds, But Action Is Lacking

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Like the bath who stayed too long in the sun and got burned, the American consumer is really going to be scorched soon if not given some protection from the heat of inflation.

This is a well known fact; there is no mystery to it. With very few exceptions, logical people such as President Johnson and congressmen and bankers and workers recognize the danger.

The mystery is how so many can agree on the danger and not on the relief. While Americans have been exposed to inflation many months beyond the limits of safety, nobody in authority has even raised a parol.

While inflation now is running between 3 and 4 per cent a year — which means that interest and salary increases are wiped out — more inflationary pressures may be building up.

First, escalation of the Vietnam war already has thrown government estimates out of line. Defense costs now may run much higher than the $4-billion increase foreseen a few months ago. This spending must be paid for either by a tax increase or through inflation.

Next, farm prices have recently begun to rise, meaning retail food prices might soon move higher. This would mean a very painful inflation.

While consumers were saving an unusually high portion of their take-home pay the economy was spared a certain amount of inflationary pressure. But there are signs that people may step up their spending a bit.

In the business sector of the economy, spending for plant expansion has been running a bit below projections. But a government survey shows that businessmen are planning to invest more than $65 billion in plants this year, a total much higher than had been forecast a short while ago.

A similar condition prevails in regard to factory orders. Although orders early this year were lower than had been expected, a Commerce Department survey shows that manufacturers now expect big gains before the end of the year.

In Washington the debate goes on. Congress says the administration should cut spending. The administration says Congress should raise taxes. Either method would help cool the economy. But neither is being pursued.

If taxes were raised, as proposed by the Johnson people, then money would flow to government coffers, enabling it to pay its bills while reducing the spending power of the civilian economy.

If government spending were cut, as advocated by congressmen, then the government's ability to put pressure on the economy would be reduced. Fuel would be taken from the inflation furnace. The economy would lose heat.

Kansas City C of C Honors Farm Families

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Blankenship of California are among the 20 farm families in Western Missouri who have been named to receive Balanced Farming Management Awards from the University of Missouri Extension Division.

The awards will be presented to the families at a luncheon in Kansas City sponsored by the Greater Kansas City Chamber of Commerce.

The Blankenships own 400 acres, rent 50 acres, and have cleared more than 100 acres of timber for crops and pasture during the past few years. They maintain a corn and livestock farm with all corn that is produced fed on the farm. Livestock numbers have been increased as forage and grain production increase. The beef cow herd has been increased to 75 head, with plans for 100 cows. They have been producing hatching eggs for 17 years and have a flock of 1,200 hens.

Mr. and Mrs. Blankenship have four daughters, Mrs. Tom (Rita) Smith, 18, Jefferson City; Christy, 16, Becky, 11; and Arla, eight.

One Extreme to Other In Actress' New Role

By JERRY BUCK
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — The American male who has trouble thinking of Stella Stevens without remembering that she posed nude for a men's magazine should think about this: She plays a nun in her next movie.

Stella has appeared three times in Playboy magazine layouts, but she says she's still hard put to figure out what all the fuss is about. "What really is the big deal about it?" she asks.

She sees it strictly as an investment. "If some of the people who see the layouts remember your name and see you in a movie you couldn't buy that kind of publicity for any amount of money."

But when she is pressed she does admit that she is a little bit pleased by the fact that many people still find nudity shocking. "If nudity was just really so passe, you know, that would take all the fun out of it," she said.

Anyone who's seen Stella in the magazine may not recognize her immediately in her next film. The nun's habit she wears is rather concealing—although she did wear a bikini underneath when it got too hot on location filming in New Mexico.

The movie, a comedy called "Where Angels Go . . . Trouble Follows," traces the peregrinations of several nuns taking a group of girls across country on a school bus to a youth rally in California.

"I play a nun who is kind of a mod nun. The kids in the school call her a groovy nun," she said.

Miss Stevens, sitting in her hotel suite, wearing a chocolate brown micromini skirt and sipping a cola drink, said that despite the pictures she has never played a sexy role on the screen. That comes next in "Doctors' Wives."

"I really get to play a bad girl in it," she said. "I play a girl who has six affairs in the movie. So, she's really a terrible girl and a wonderful girl. I'm looking forward to this."

"It's like the old Bette Davis movies, I guess, where everybody hates you, you know, but still has to love you in some way. These people are always the most exciting to play."

Railroad Tax Levy Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that the Missouri State Tax Commission's reassessment of the Norfolk & Western Railway's property in Missouri following its merger with the old Wabash Railroad was grossly excessive and therefore unconstitutional.

The court, in an 8-1 ruling, said the commission, in mechanically applying its long-standing formula to N&W, without taking into account certain unusual situations, "arrived at an unconscionable and unconstitutional result."

In 1964 N&W leased all of the property of the Wabash. N&W primarily is a coal hauling railroad and much of its equipment is specially designed for this work and is located in coal regions of Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky.

Prior to the merger the Missouri Tax Commission had valued Wabash rolling stock in Missouri at about $9.2 million. But after the merger the commission valued the new merged railroad's rolling stock at nearly $20 million. N&W said that the rolling stock of the combined railroads in Missouri at any one time was about $7.6 million.

The railroad challenged the assessment and the Missouri Supreme Court, in upholding the commission, pointed out that the assessment was made on the assumption that rolling stock is substantially evenly divided throughout the railroad's system.

It said also that the valuation found by the commission could be justified on the so-called principle of enhancement. This principle says that rolling stock employed in one state has an enhanced value because of its connection with integrated operations elsewhere on the railroad's system, even though they are outside the state.

But the court, in an opinion delivered by Justice Abe Fortas, said that the commission's rigid application of its normal formula "led to a grossly distorted result."

Thus, N&W's rolling stock in Missouri was assessed at nearly $20 million, despite the fact that "it was practically the same property that had been assessed the preceding year at $9,177,683 to the Wabash."

The court noted that the railroad showed that its coal operations require much specialized equipment that hardly ever enters Missouri, that its traffic on its Missouri tracks was only half the level of its traffic density elsewhere and "the overwhelming majority of its rolling stock regularly present in Missouri was rolling stock it had leased from the Wabash."

Fortas added that while the state does not have to show that its use of a special formula has resulted in a precise measure of value, it is obliged to make the necessary accommodation when a taxpayer supplies strong evidence proving that use of this formula would yield a grossly distorted result. The dissenter was Justice Hugo Black.

Hill says the decision has restored peace in his household, where his two children formerly "just sat there and glared" at him.

Retirement Plan Teachers' Goal

HOUMA, La. (AP) — With the arrival of a healthy eight-pound boy, Mrs. Antoine Lodrigue has given birth to her 27th child. He was christened Morris.

Twenty-one of the Lodrigue children are living. Three are married, 17 are at the family's two-bedroom frame home.

Mrs. Lodrigue, 41, has had four sets of twins, one set of triplets. Lodrigue, 49, works for a packing company.

Name Rings a Bell With Other Party

SEATTLE (AP) — Four-year-old Dana Arnold was becoming proficient at answering the telephone under the guidance of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Arnold of suburban Renton.

But he lost his composure when one caller said: "Hello, this is Mr. McGregor."

"Mr. McGregor!" the boy cried. "Are you the Mr. McGregor who chased Peter Cottontail out of the garden?"

Mr. McGregor hung up without replying.

He was born in Windsor, Jan. 4, 1893, son of the late Thomas and Anna Smith Baker. He was married, Jan. 21, 1919, to Miss Leona Narron, of Sedalia.

A teamster by occupation, he was an Army veteran of World War I and a member of the Warrensburg Baptist Church.

Surviving are his wife, Leona, of the home; three sons, William C. Baker, Jr., Robert Leonard "Buddy" Baker, an employee of the Sedalia Democrat, and Albert L. Baker, all of Warrensburg; three daughters, Mrs. George (Neoma May) Taraba, Knob Noster; Mrs. Joe (Alberta) Hensley, Grain Valley, Mo.; Mrs. Joe (Joann) Scales, Independence, five sisters, Mrs. Gladys Correll, Mrs. Lucille Adams, Mrs. Naoma Kinder, Mrs. Opal Sullivan, all of Warrensburg; Mrs. Jesse Redd, Kansas City; one brother, Gale Baker, Chilhowee.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the First Baptist Church in Warrensburg with the Rev. Frank E. Meyers officiating.

Burial will be in Memorial Gardens, Warrensburg.

The family will receive friends from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Holdren Chapel, Warrensburg.

Mathew Crawford Post 131, American Legion, will conduct full military services at the grave-site.

Larry Hackelman

SAIGON — Official notification has been received by the family of the death by gunfire of Pfc. Larry L. Hackelman, 21, of Nevada.

Born Nov. 3, 1946 in Cedar Springs, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hackelman of Nevada. He was married April 8, 1966 to the former Miss Linda Turpin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Turpin, Tipton.

Survivors include his wife; parents and one brother, Sgt. Tom Hackelman, Altus, Okla.

Pfc. Hackelman was reported missing Feb. 12 while with a medical division in the Saigon area.

He entered the service in June, completed basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, and was then sent to Texas before going to Vietnam in November.

The body will be flown to Washington, D. C. and will then be sent to Nevada where memorial services will be conducted.

Burial will be in Hackelman Cemetery in Cedar Springs.

Director Of Ft. Wood USO Speaker

Brigadier George Williams, Waynesville, director of the USO in the Ft. Leonard Wood area, was the speaker at the Salvation Army annual banquet held Saturday night at Holiday Inn.

Things are happening in the world today that are a little frightening, he said, with the war in Vietnam, the riots, the problems everywhere, but he stated, he felt that they will improve.

Every day, Brig. Williams told the group he saw boys come back from experiences in Vietnam, some who had been wounded, one who had been wounded three times.

Back in 1865, the speaker commented, a war was just ending in this country between the states, and men were just returning to their homes. In the slums of London there was a man who was forming another kind of an army. Standing on a box he was talking of an army of peace that now serves humanity around the world.

This army gives religious training, and uplifts, it helps unwed mothers, it sponsors "Eventide," a home for the aged, it operates emergency lodges for families beaten down, it has rooms for the transients, an evangelistic home for working girls, disaster emergency canteens, it is an army of people devoted to helping men no matter what. Wherever the voice of the people is crying the Salvation Army is there.

Brig. Williams told of the USO, United Service Organization, which was organized for the purpose of giving to the men and women in service wholesome recreation, comforts, free food, entertainment. There are 17 USO clubs in Vietnam, he said, wherever men are in service.

The national commander of the Salvation Army, Brig. Williams stated, reports that a doctor, two nurses and missionaries have been assigned to Vietnam under the Salvation Army.

The meeting was presided over by Jess Brown, chairman, and invocation was by the Rev. Marvin Nobles, pastor of the New Hope Baptist Church.

Abe Silverman, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the slate of officers of the past year to again serve. All were re-elected. The officers are: Joseph Brown, chairman; Joseph R. Allen, vice-chairman; Mrs. Mildred Bowman, secretary; Henry C. Salveter, treasurer.

Awards for the bell ringers at Christmas were presented by Mrs. George Williams with the following accepting for their organizations: Dr. Stanley Fisher accepted the plaque for the Rotary Club, first place winner; Mrs. Sylvia Kyger accepted the trophy for the American War Mothers, group 2; Mrs. Dorothy Riley accepted the trophy for the Altrusa Club, group 3.

Certificates were presented to the following clubs: Kiwanis, first; by Roy Brown, president-elect; Business and Professional Women's Club, second; by Miss Erna Ann McClure, president, group 1; Jake Stubinger, Veteran of World War I, Shirley Minor, honored queen, Job's Daughters, group 2; Golden Agers, Mrs. Minnie Ratje, group 3.

In the doll dressing contest Mrs. Gene Merry received the first place trophy; Mrs. Ralph McCowan, second place trophy; Mrs. Hazel Hironymus; third place trophy. Certificates were given to Mrs. Laverne Rigby, Mrs. Leo Dick, Sr., Mrs. Ruby Fowler, Mrs. L. A. Perkins, Mrs. Aubrey Moore, Future Homemakers of Smith-Cotton High School, Flat Creek Extension Club, First Methodist Church Ladies Group, Calvary Baptist Sunday School.

A highlight of the evening was the Gospel Singing Williams Family, St. James. The talented musical family, both instrumental and vocal, is composed of Ron Williams, son of Brig. and Mrs. George Williams, his wife, and four children, Richard 13, George 11, Steve, nine and Lora, six.

A resume of the annual report was given by Major Howard Froberg.

Guests introduced were: Mrs. Dimmitt Hoffman, Judge and Mrs. Henry Lamm, Billy G. Arnold, Shirley and Becky Minor; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brown, Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Silverman.

A special guest was Mrs. Erma Rush, Newton, Ia., whose husband was commanding officer of the Salvation Army here for several years, leaving here in 1950.

Members of the advisory board present were asked to stand.

Hampshire

In any event, McCarthy, with five primaries still ahead, needed a sizable showing in New Hampshire to encourage financial backers. One McCarthy aide said a 30 per cent share of the vote probably would guarantee a continuing war chest for the challenge to Johnson.

Nixon was looking ahead too, to a possible confrontation with Rockefeller, unannounced but on the brink of candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination.

"I have chosen to submit my case to the people in the primary states," the former vice president said, challenging Rockefeller anew to do the same. Nixon said Rockefeller cannot prove his vote-pulling power by contesting only the Oregon presidential primary, due May 28 and rated the most likely spot for a confrontation.

"After all," he said, "Oregon would not be representative of the country. That is the only state he has ever won outside of New York."

Henry Cabot Lodge, then ambassador to Vietnam, topped the GOP field in New Hampshire four years ago with 33,007 write-in votes. Barry Goldwater was second with 20,696.

"I'm not going to play the game in terms of letting Oregon be the only battlefield," Nixon said.

He wound up his New Hampshire campaign in a shower of confetti in a traffic-jamming rally in Manchester. "Turnout," he urged the crowd, "let's get the biggest vote we've ever had."

Nixon acknowledged however, that a heavy turnout was unlikely.

Accidents

A 1965 Corvair, owned by Jimmy L. Coots, 2204 South Vermont, was involved in a hit-and-run accident sometime Monday while it was parked at the above address. Damage was to the left rear of the Corvair.

No apparent injuries resulted when two cars collided at 5:35 p.m. Monday, four miles south of Route B on Highway 65.

According to Trooper Richard Joos, Missouri Highway Patrol, who investigated the accident, a 1966 Pontiac driven south by Evelyn K. Stohr, 20, Route 1, was struck in the rear by a 1965 Chevrolet also being driven south by Albert L. Kirk, 26, Route 1.

The accident occurred, according to the report, when the Pontiac slowed to turn into a driveway and was struck in the rear by the Kirk vehicle. The Stohr automobile landed in the west ditch and was towed from the scene by Parks wrecker. The Chevrolet left under its own power.

W. D. Hunter, Versailles, was seriously injured around 9:30 a.m. Monday at his farm northeast of town, when a mare kicked him as he approached her to remove a broken halter from her neck. Mrs. Hunter rushed her husband to Gunn Clinic for treatment and he was later taken to Bothwell Hospital.

Hunter suffered a fractured cheekbone and nose.

Stabbings In Penitentiary

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — Oregon State Penitentiary officials reported two stabbings Monday night as prisoners were moved back to their cells after a weekend of rioting.

One prisoner, Delmar Wayne Dubray, 30, received a superficial puncture wound in the right kidney, the prison physician said.

Melvin Newell, 36, was wounded in the abdomen and groin. He was treated at the prison and then moved to a Salem hospital.

They were stabbed while milling round the prison yard as prison officials moved 178 men back to their cells.

To Act On Gold 'Cover'

By JOE HALL Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leaders express confidence they can send to President Johnson shortly the bill to remove the gold cover on the nation's currency.

The measure, already passed by the House, was due to be considered on the Senate floor today.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield moved it up ahead of schedule at the urgent request of administration officials.

These officials said they were hopeful final congressional action on the measure would contribute stability to the international gold markets, unsettled in recent days amid rumors the United States might be forced to devalue its dollar.

Officials said the world money system—based on a gold price of $35 an ounce—is strong enough to withstand the current gold-buying rush in Europe and any potential shock waves from British devaluation of the pound.

To weather the present gold rush, U.S. officials are relying on the weekend affirmation by key bankers in Europe the gold price would be maintained at $35 an ounce, a similar affirmation by Frederick L. Deming, undersecretary of the Treasury for Monetary Affairs, and quick removal of the gold cover.

One official said the gold picture might return to normal once the speculators realize the United States is serious about holding the price at $35 an ounce.

Under present law, each $1 in Federal Reserve notes—the only paper money made—must be backed by 25 cents in gold. Lifting this requirement would free over $10 billion in U.S. gold to back the dollar internationally.

Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., floor manager for the bill to remove the gold cover, was prepared to argue that it must be passed promptly and listed these two major reasons:

—Expected normal increases in the supply of Federal Reserve notes will require a progressively larger reserve requirement in subsequent years. Maintaining the current 25 per cent gold reserve requirement could ultimately interfere with business and unduly limit necessary domestic economic expansion.

Outcast Marine Is Turned Into a Hero of Khe Sanh

By JOHN T. WHEELER Associated Press Writer KHE SANH, Vietnam (AP) — The Methodist minister's son was a conscientious objector and a Marine outcast.

He hated war and refused to be a rifleman. His strongest swear word was "Golly." He could not develop a tough exterior.

Until he went to work abiding the wounded at Khe Sanh, Pvt. Jonathan M. Spicer of Miami, Fla., was despised by some of the other Leathernecks around him and only tolerated by others. Now he is a hero, a growing legend and badly wounded.

Friends said that Spicer joined the Marines almost on a whim when he went to a recruiting station with a friend. Somewhere in basic training, when the instructors were attempting to turn him into a professional killer, he rebelled.

"He just sort of suddenly realized combat wasn't really for him," recalled Cpl. Daniel Sullivan of Boston, Mass. He said it just before the day he was hit. But he said he could not put himself up to killing a man.

Friends said Spicer, who stands 5-feet-9, tried to declare himself a conscientious objector in boot camp and at various other points on his route to Vietnam. He was always told: "Wait until your next assignment."

Finally he was assigned to an infantry battalion at Khe Sanh, the besieged Marine base 15 miles south of the demilitarized zone.

Spicer was hit in the heart, face and legs. He was saved only by a delicate heart operation by Dr. Finnegan and Lt. John Maddilligan of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Finnegan recommended Spicer for the Silver Star for bravery and gallantry. The Khe Sanh base's commander, Col. David E. Lownds, mentioned the Navy Cross.

Men who spent fruitless hours trying to teach Spicer to swear and be tough like a Marine said they felt a little guilty. "Man, he was really out there when the shells were coming in," said one. "I'm a little sorry about the way we treated him now."

FBI Agent Speaks To Rotarians

K.W. Dissley, of the Kansas City office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, related to members of the Sedalia Rotary Club some of the experiences of FBI agents in crime solutions when he spoke to them on Monday noon at Hotel Bothwell.

Crime increased 16 per cent in the United States in 1967, Dissley stated, which poses a big problem for all law enforcement agencies. He discussed cases of extortion, espionage and bank robbery in which the FBI agents were involved.

Although there has been a big increase in bank robberies, the FBI is receiving splendid cooperation from bank employees in bringing about early solutions. The use of hidden cameras in banks has been helpful, the speaker stated.

The program was introduced by Ernie Otis, March program chairman.

President Jake Sumners announced the Salvation Army "Tree of Lights" award to the Sedalia Rotary Club for collecting the most money of all the service clubs during the pre-Christmas day the members manned the kettles on South Ohio Street. This is a traveling plaque and was won in 1966 by the Business and Professional Women's Club. The president also announced the club would hold its annual election of officers on March 25.

Invocation was given by Phillips. Charles Hofheins led in group singing.

Guests for the meeting were G.I. Recotr, Eldon, with Charles Hofheins and Wendell Smith, with Leroy Luchs.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Our son Henry is a good boy. He is not brilliant, but he has never flunked and has to work hard for those C grades. Unfortunately his older brother was not only a top student but a fine athlete. I am sure Henry feels he cannot compare with his brother, and this is part of the problem.

Several months ago Henry began to "miss" getting haircuts. He made excuses from time to time and suddenly it occurred to me that his hair was longer than his sister's. My husband became increasingly irritated over the boy's long hair and last night he ordered Henry to get a haircut right after school or not come home.

Well, Ann, Henry showed up tonight for dinner with his head completely shaved. He looks ghastly! I didn't realize his head was so bumpy and misshapen. I am angry with my husband because he threatened the boy into doing this foolish thing. He says, "It's only hair. It'll grow back."

Please say something that makes sense. I need it. — HEARTBROKEN MOM

Dear Mom: It's only hair. It'll grow back. And when it does, tell your husband not to make an issue of it and he'll have less trouble over the things that are really important.

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing in regard to the girl who wanted to know if she should tell her fiancé about an affair she had a few years earlier. The girl should thank her lucky stars it was only an "affair."

Vic and I went steady for seven months and I was so sure he planned to marry me that I let myself go completely. When I told Vic I was pregnant he said, "Gee, that's a shame," and announced he had spontaneously fallen in love with someone else. I haven't seen him since that night.

I am on the heavy side naturally and nobody can tell I am in my sixth month. I've dated some nice fellows and one of them is getting serious about me. I know I MUST tell him the truth but I dread it and keep putting it off. What advice do you have for me? — I'VE GOT A SECRET

Dear Girl: You've got more than a secret, Toots, and you'd better tell the young man immediately in plain, every-day language. If you keep putting it off you may find yourself asking him to drive you to the hospital in the middle of a movie.

At any rate, the upcoming situation will prove a real test. If he stays around after he hears the news he's a true gem and you should consider yourself a very lucky girl.

Dear Ann Landers: This is more of an annoyance than a problem but I'd appreciate an answer.

My Aunt Bessie is a lovely woman but she has a habit that drives me batty. When someone speaks to her she says, "Wait a minute, I can't hear you. Then she puts on her glasses and says, "There, that's better."

Does she actually think that putting on her glasses will improve her hearing? Please comment. — RUTHIE

Dear Ruthie: Not only does she THINK so, but she may be right. The experts tell us that when one sense is sharpened it often makes the others more acute. Get it?

If you have trouble getting along with your parents . . . if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

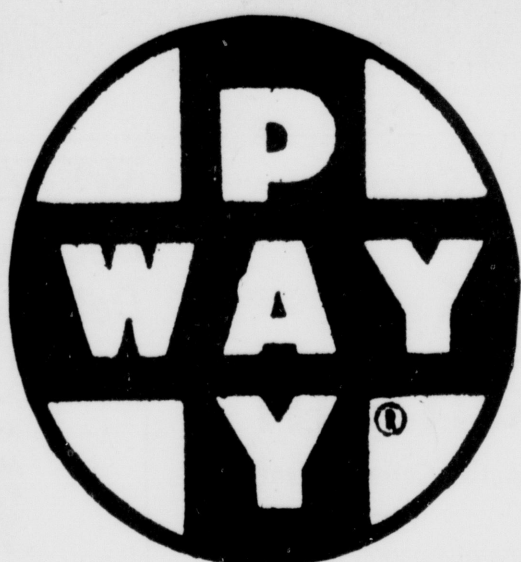

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Poundmaster's Plight

Remember the old song, "They gotta quit kickin' my dawg aroun'; makes no difference if he is a houn'."

Man's best friend has his enemies as well as friends, but the latter are far in the majority despite the fact canines can be nuisances as well as hazards if they are vicious.

Consider the plight of the poundmaster, therefore, when he encounters not only stray dogs but also both friends and enemies of the animals.

By circuitous route, a letter came to hand addressed to "Mean Mr. Dogcatcher." The 13-year-old author was very disturbed about this official when he wrote a complaint, part of which reads:

"I don't think that you should go around picking up man's best friend, the dog. Don't you know that if it wasn't for dogs in the World War II many of our soldiers would not have received aid?"

"Right now dogs are helping our boys fight, risking their lives to help, and what do you do? Kill Them!"

"Don't get me wrong, I don't like mean dogs anymore than you do, but it's the nice ones that you pick up is what's bothering me and the kids at school on behalf of whom I am writing this letter."

"Dogs all over the world help people. It would take a whole page to tell how dogs help man."

"If you think that this letter is a joke you are badly mistaken because I mean every letter, word, sentence, period, comma and exclamation mark of it."

"Signed, a Very unsatisfied and disgusted Kid!"

"P.S. Don't come around our school any more because you won't catch anything while we are outside."

Any poundmaster may be sympathetic with dog lovers, young or old. He may be a dog lover himself. But he has a job to do; and if not him, then someone else because the city has an ordinance to be enforced against stray dogs—licensed and unlicensed, and there are plenty of the latter.

The school boy's complaint is taken in good faith as expressing the emotions of so many of us. But it really should be directed not at the poundmaster but to city council whose predecessors put the law on the books to hire a poundmaster and build a shelter for impounded dogs that can be redeemed by owners. Otherwise they must be disposed of. That's the law.

Dog owners are required to buy licenses for them; and also not to let them run at large and become public nuisances. The time of year is upon us when city authorities will be urged to keep the poundmaster busy, by irate citizens whose property is messed up, and others who fear the hazards of dog packs roaming the precincts.

Just about everybody would like to agree with the 13-year-old youngster who loves dogs like so many of us do. But then the matter of public health and safety forces a line to be drawn somewhere. So we have an ordinance against dogs running loose and providing for the hiring of a poundmaster who is supposed to catch the roamers either for redemption later or, lacking that, then disposal by humane methods.

The poundmaster also receives many complaints from people who object to canines running loose, so, caught in the middle, he is a very misunderstood person trying to please every body when, simply stated, he has a job to do.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Choice to Vote For or Against War

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The Gene McCarthy campaign, which has taken an upswing in New Hampshire, has done two healthy things.

One, it has given the people of New Hampshire a choice to vote for or against war. In the late Senate election they had a choice only between two hawks, one Republican, one Democratic.

Second, Gene McCarthy has jumped vigorously, and with both feet, on the old Joe McCarthy bugaboo of seeing Communists under beds, including beds in the Far East.

This bugaboo, which stymied American foreign policy in John Foster Dulles's day, was responsible for getting us into the mess in Vietnam. It was Dulles, following the McCarthy wave of terror, who whipped up the Domino theory and, to cope with it, created SEATO, now a hollow shell. Exposure of this was long overdue. Unfortunately, President Johnson's cohorts had been reviving the Joe McCarthy techniques.

Regarding point one, the last 1966 Senate election gave New Hampshire voters a choice between retired Air Force General Harrison Thyng, Republican all-out hawk, and Sen. Tom McIntyre, a Democratic hawk.

Gen. Thyng was supported by some of the far-right Texas oil money which had been battling against Lyndon Johnson in the past — $1,500 from H. L. Hunt, the Joe McCarthyite Texas oil man; $1,000 from his brother, Bunker Hunt; $1,000 from Al Hill of Dallas, a Hunt associate.

Sen. McIntyre, a Johnson associate, and lesser of the two hawks, won.

—McCarthy vs. McCarthy—

Gene McCarthy's crackdown on Joe McCarthy's scare-monger techniques came after he found that Johnson forces were using this radio campaign commercial: "The Communists in Vietnam are watching the New Hampshire primary... don't vote for fuzzy thinking and surrender."

"This," said Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, "is McCarthyism," referring to the late Sen. Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin.

All this highlights the paradoxical position in which President Johnson has put himself, in which he takes a vigorous public position against so-called Communism in Asia while trying to improve relations with Communist countries in Europe.

On the same day that Johnson cohorts in New Hampshire were warning voters that the "Communists in Vietnam are watching," Johnson's ambassador in Geneva had signed the most far-reaching pact with the Soviet Union ever reached. They agreed to cooperate in protecting non-nuclear powers.

In other words, the two chief nuclear powers, the USA and USSR, pledged to unite their nuclear weapons to protect non-nuclear nations if they were attacked. The agreement was aimed chiefly at protecting India, which fears attack from China; but it could also apply, under certain circumstances, to Italy and Germany, two allies of the United States, and to Poland and Czechoslovakia, two allies of the Soviet Union, plus various other countries.

—Asiatic vs. European Communism—

In case after case, President Johnson has pushed toward better understanding with Russia and its one-time European satellites, and has done so with more courage than any other President.

Yet at the same time, in speech after speech, he has demanded action against Communists in the Far East. To some extent this has undermined his effectiveness in building bridges to Communist nations in Europe. It is true there is a difference between European and Asiatic Communism, and there is intense bitterness between Russia and China. But it's also true that constant pounding on the word "Communism" undercuts what the President is trying to do in Europe; also keeps alive the old Joe McCarthy bugaboo among the American people.

Real fact is that what motivates the Vietnamese is Nationalism, not Communism. Technically and politically they are Communists. But, far more important, they are Nationalists. And they want to be independent of China just as much as from France, Japan or the United States. For one thousand years they have resisted Chinese domination.

Meanwhile, Nationalism is also becoming the dominant factor among European Communists. The Yugoslavs have successfully exerted their own Nationalism in becoming independent from Moscow. The Romanians recently walked out of the Budapest Communist meeting because of their Nationalism. Czech Nationalism is now stirring among the new generation.

President Johnson is all too aware of these shifting developments inside the onetime rigid Communist world, and LBJ has been more farsighted than any other President in shaping American policy to meet the shifts.

But he hasn't told his speech-writers and his campaign strategists to revamp what they tell the American people, either in New Hampshire or elsewhere around the nation. He should give them the word

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q — How much can I deduct on my return for child care expenses?

A — You may deduct up to $900 of this expense when there are two or more children under the age of 13 for which this expense is incurred in order for you to work or seek a job. If there is only one child, the maximum deduction is $600.

Q — What do you have to do to claim someone as a dependent?

A — There are five tests that have to be met. Check your 1040 instructions for details.

If you think you are entitled to claim a relative who does not live with you as a dependent, keep good records of the support you provide. Failure to keep such records caused many taxpayers to lose a claim for a dependency exemption last year.

London's Man in the Street

Britons Back U.S. on Vietnam

By RAY CROMLEY, NEA Washington Correspondent

LONDON (NEA)

Talking to a few people in the streets of London is no scientific way to conduct a public opinion poll.

But it is heart-warming all the same to be on a bus or standing on the street in front of a store and have ordinary British people on their own voluntarily bring up Vietnam and sympathize in the most friendly way with our position.

One lady, after complaining about the cold, said how badly she felt about how we were being treated in the news when, as she put it, we are trying so hard to do what we think is right.

A bus driver noted it was enough to turn his stomach when a country the United States had helped so greatly two times when its existence was threatened was so rough on us now.

"If you don't know whom I mean," he said "it's De Gaulle I'm talking about."

An old man approaches you in the airport and finding you are an American turns the talk to Vietnam. "We're back of you all the way," he volunteers. "It's the sort of a job we had to do for a long time and now it's your turn."

This reporter heard that there are 200 to 250 draft dodgers in England and that there's a movement in London to help American Army deserters. Some prominent people have put their names to fund-raising advertisements to finance a deserters "underground railroad" to Sweden.

But reports indicated the fund-raising was supported by a few large givers but not going well among the general public. There weren't many deserters and for the most part those who deserted were men in trouble for nonpolitical reasons—apparently deserting to escape punishment.

There were reports of past quite sizable anti-Vietnam demonstrations, some violent. But the two this reporter saw were tame. One was a lethargic march by a group of somewhat less than 40 women, not counting the children trailing along behind. They strolled around the park in front of the London U.S. embassy. The second march, at the same location, was reportedly set up by a Communist youth group.

The Communist march was equipped with a car bearing loud speakers. This automobile led a slow march once around the park. Then the group disbanded. It was well-organized. Printed signs and mounted pictures were handed out to each of the 36 marchers, then carefully gathered up at the end of one turn around the park and loaded into a small station wagon for further use.

Both the women and the Communists seemed us though they were simply going through the motions.

There were no crowds watching. Few people paid any attention, except the police on guard and several Americans on duty in the embassy that quiet Sunday afternoon.

The average Londoner, even passersby, didn't seem interested.

Over in Hyde Park, by comparison, crowds of people gathered to hear men talking about whatever suited their fancy.

"It was during Rowan and Martin's 'Laugh-In' that he said his first words—'sock it to me!'"

Racial Imbalance Crux of Matter

By JACK MILLER

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The report by the President's riot commission lends support to those agreeing with U.S. Commissioner of Education Harold Howe's contention that "for an American citizen, segregated education cannot be excellent."

Howe's recent statement refers to the racially unbalanced schools of the North as well as to segregated Southern schools.

The riot commission report contends integrated education "is essential to the future of American society. In this last summer's disorders, we have seen the consequences of racial isolation at all levels, and of attitudes toward race on both sides, produced by three centuries of myth, ignorance and bias."

But the government not only has no authority to move against racial imbalance as such, it is barred from doing so by an amendment to the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

It can—and does—provide federal funds to help schools, by busing or other means, to overcome racial imbalance for educational reasons.

Federal officials acknowledge the actions of local school districts in attacking racial imbalance have been small in view of the large-scale racial separation in the big cities of the North.

But Lt. Gregory Anrig, director of the Office of Education's equal opportunity operation, says "we're hearing of an awful lot of school districts that are trying to do something" to reduce imbalance.

The government soon will begin its first major investigation of discrimination against Negroes in Northern school systems. Discriminating districts will lose federal aid.

But this effort cannot be directed head-on at racial imbalance. It will be limited to requiring school boards to assure that Negro pupils are treated equally with whites.

Congress could pass a law authorizing federal action against imbalance. But that seems highly unlikely for now. Even liberal Northern Democrats would shy away from such action because of powerful pressure from white voters against enforced mixing—and the busing that often goes with it.

The open-housing law under consideration in Congress clearly would lead to more school integration. But federal officials say housing patterns would change only very slowly.

What holds back any big national move against racial imbalance is that the 1954 Supreme Court decision and the 1964 Civil Rights Act struck down school segregation by law but not segregation that comes about because of where people live.

Many federal officials believe racial imbalance in the North will not be changed for many years unless the federal courts, and finally the Supreme Court, rule against it.

Some officials predict that may well happen within the next year or two.

Derrick Bell, a legal expert of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, predicts the Supreme Court will in effect rule against all school segregation.

He predicts the court will conclude that Negro youngsters cannot get an equal educational opportunity in schools that are all or mostly Negro.

Yet even such a decision would hardly bring instant, nationwide mixing of white and Negro pupils. The government still hasn't brought about complete compliance with the court's decision of 14 years ago.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Cataracts Are Part Of Aging Process

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q — I have incipient cataracts, bilateral. What does that mean? How long does it take for a cataract to form? Can it be dissolved without an operation?

A — You have beginning cataracts in both eyes. Cataracts develop at an uneven rate that varies from months to years in different persons. Although the opacity in the lens cannot be dissolved, an enzyme is sometimes used to dissolve the attachment of the lens to its surrounding capsule. This makes it possible to remove the cataract without waiting for it to "ripen" as was done in former times.

Q — What causes a cataract? If one can see all right even though a cataract is present should the cataract be removed or is it better to wait? Is there any drug, such as mydrin, that will slow the development of a cataract? Can a cataract be treated with ultra-sound?

A — Cataracts are a part of the aging process. They are found in an ever-increasing percentage of persons in each age group past 50. The incidence is higher in persons, such as glass blowers and stokers, who are exposed to great heat or intense light than in the general population. Living in a hot, dry climate is also a causative factor. In some persons, taking large doses of drugs of the cortisone group and others has caused cataracts.

If your vision is good in either eye it is best to postpone cataract removal. This is because, following removal, a special type of lens must be worn. Good bilateral vision cannot be obtained unless this type of lens is used for both eyes.

Nydrin increases the blood flow to parts where it is deficient but, since the lens contains no blood vessels at all, neither this nor any other drug will arrest the progress of a cataract. A lens that has been removed will not return.

A new technique that uses an ultrasonic needle has been developed. The vibrations break up the lens and it can then be sucked out through the same needle that delivered the ultrasonic waves. Although this is believed by some to be the best method of treatment, it is too new to have been widely adopted.

Q — Is the use of a freezing probe the best way to remove a cataract?

A — Authorities differ with regard to this method. Each surgeon must use the method that works best for him.

Sickle Hallucinations

A rash of unidentified flying object "sightings" occurred in Russia recently. Appropriately enough, the UFOs were not the customary saucers but were sickle-shaped, at least those reported from the Caucasus.

The U.S.S.R. Academy of Science appraised the situation quickly enough. "Unscientific sensationalism," it said.

That's giving those sickles the old hammer.

Anyone can work a squeeze play successfully and everyone does. Experts plan squeezes at trick one, fair players see them later, really bad players may work a squeeze by complete accident and may not even know that they have done so.

Usually the squeeze is made by declarer, but once in awhile the defense produces one. Today's hand is an example. South's choice of two no-trump as his rebid was poor. With a mere seven points, he should have contented himself with a two-heart or two-spade call, but South fancied his own dummy play.

Any North or South contract was going to be wrecked on the rocks of distribution, but South really outdid himself when he managed to go down four. The play started nicely for him when he won the first diamond with his 10. Then he lost the heart finesse. East returned the seven of spades. South's eight was covered by West's 10 and North's king. South continued by a spade to his ace and the jack of spades to knock out West's queen. At that point, South suddenly noticed that he had to discard from dummy but solved that problem by letting a low heart go. East discarded the eight of clubs.

West saw that his side's club tricks would keep and returned his last heart. South took dummy's two hearts. He let a club go on the second heart. Then he led dummy's last heart. East was in again and South dropped the seven of diamonds.

East thought awhile and decided that South's entire play had marked West with the king of clubs. He led a low club. West returned the suit. East cashed the ace and jack of clubs. South had to come down to two cards and discovered he was squeezed. He had to chuck the high spade or go down to one diamond, and West was sitting back of him with a low spade and the ace-jack of diamonds. South did discard a diamond. West threw his small spade and made the last two tricks with diamonds.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—Is it true that the hippopotamus sweats blood?

A—There is no foundation for this belief. During warm weather, the hippo's skin does secrete a reddish, oily liquid to make the skin more resistant to water. But this secretion is not blood, although it resembles blood in general appearance.

Pressure on Rockefeller To Run Is 'Irresistible'

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 20 top Republicans, summoned to a strategy meeting with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller at his Fifth Avenue apartment, have urged him strongly to become "an announced and active candidate" for the Republican presidential nomination.

A spokesman for the group that included seven governors, three U.S. senators, five congressmen and Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, said Rockefeller would decide about plunging into the race after consulting with other party leaders in the next few days.

Rockefeller, who has maintained he would not be a candidate unless there was a draft, had no comment following Sunday's two-hour, closed-door strategy session.

Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon, one of those at the meeting, said he urged the New York governor to challenge former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the May 28 Oregon primary. Rockefeller has until March 22 to declare himself out of that election.

McCall said Rockefeller's candidacy was "no longer an abstraction" following the meeting. Asked if he thought it constituted a draft, McCall replied: "Well, it's almost irresistible."

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania read a brief statement to newsmen that said there was "very strong sentiment" that Rockefeller get into the race as "an announced and active candidate." Asked if all those present had endorsed Rockefeller's candidacy, Scott said the statement spoke for itself.

A written statement was not given out. Scott read from notes, which he retained. The statement said Rockefeller "will consult other party leaders in the next few days and his decision will ultimately be made by himself."

Lindsay said he believed everyone as the meeting subscribed to the statement and that he himself approved "100 per cent." It was the first known meeting between Lindsay and Rockefeller since they clashed over ways to end New York's recent garbage collectors strike.

The meeting came only two days before voting in the New Hampshire primary where Nixon is expected to collect a victory.

Nixon, who lives in the same building as Rockefeller, was not invited to the meeting.

Rockefeller aides said the meeting was called to discuss the state of the GOP since Gov. George Romney of Michigan who was backed by Rockefeller, withdrew from the race, leaving Nixon the sole major contender in New Hampshire.

Romney was invited but declined to attend, saying he does not engage in politics on Sunday.

Scott said the statement he read was subscribed to by Rep. John Dellenback of Oregon, Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, Gov. John Chafee of Rhode Island, former GOP national chairman Meade Alcorn and former Rep. William D. Miller of New York, Barry Goldwater's running mate in the 1964 presidential election.

When Rockefeller arrived at the meeting from his home in suburban Tarrytown, newsmen swarmed around him and asked if he might announce his candidacy following the meeting.

"No no," he said. But he also said: "I'm ready and willing to serve if the people want it."

Uninvited Guest At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police said a man scaled the White House fence unnoticed late Saturday night and was discovered on the driveway in front of the executive mansion.

They said he was taken into custody by the Secret Service and sent to a local hospital for mental examination. Police declined to divulge the reason the trespasser gave for being on the White House grounds or what he appeared to be doing there.

Radatz, O'Toole, Barber Run Into Some Obstacles

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Three pitchers who have known better times—Dick Radatz, Jim O'Toole and Steve Barber—ran into roadblocks Monday along the baseball comeback trail.

Radatz, the once-mighty Monster of the Boston Red Sox bullpen, is trying to win a spot on the Chicago Cubs' relief corps. He came on in the fourth inning with the Cubs trailing San Francisco 2-1 in their exhibition game.

Radatz walked the first three men, uncorked two wild pitches and hit a batter and two runs were in. Manager Leo Durocher yanked him when he walked the first two batters in the next inning. The Giants went on to a 7-2 victory.

O'Toole, a 19-game winner in Cincinnati's 1961 pennant push and now trying to catch on with the pitching-rich Chicago White Sox, fared somewhat better. But he still was clipped for two runs in three innings and was the losing pitcher as the Los Angeles Dodgers trounced the Chisox 7-2.

Barber's misfortune took the form of an eight-run second inning in the New York Yankees' 11-7 loss to Washington. Barber compiled a 10-18 record last season with Baltimore and New York and showed signs of regaining his 20-game form of 1963.

But Washington teed off on him with two-run doubles by Paul Casanova and Eddie Brinkman and a 450-foot, three-run homer by Mike Epstein.

One player received the pink slip Monday. Tito Fuentes, who has spent the past few seasons at shortstop, second base and on the San Francisco bench, was optioned to the Giants' Phoenix farm club.

Fuentes was last heard of in the Dominican Republic several weeks ago and a Giants' spokesman said he had missed too much training to catch up now.

Otherwise, the Grapefruit and Cactus League developments were what you might expect after less than a week of exhibition games. The Oakland Athletics started their first-stringers in a so-called B squad game and then had to call on the scrubs to beat Pittsburgh 4-3.

Someone forgot to tell the pitchers they're supposed to be ahead of the hitters. The world champion St. Louis Cardinals edged Boston 6-5 in 10 innings in a rematch of last October's World Series.

Besides the Senator-Yankee slugfest, there was another 11-7 game with Bob Raudman's pinch three-run homer propelling Cincinnati to victory over Pittsburgh's 'A' squad. And Detroit, with Jim Northrup and Ed Mathews driving in three runs apiece, walloped Philadelphia 9-5.

Orlando Cepeda, the National League's Most Valuable Player, outlegged an infield hit to drive in the winning run for St. Louis. Cepeda had homered earlier, along with teammate Reggie Shannon and Boston's Reggie Smith, Mike Andrews and Gene Oliver.

The big Red Sox guns—Carl Yastrzemski, Tony Conigliaro and George Scott—failed to hit in seven at-bats.

The Mets edged Houston 4-3 in 11 innings on a bases-loaded walk to Jerry Morales, a rookie outfielder. Woodie Held drove in one run and scored the other as the California Angels edged Cleveland 2-1.

Atlanta beat Minnesota 6-4 in an error-filled night game.

Gremlins Take First In State Qualifying Meet

Sacred Heart walked off with the honors in their State Qualifying Meet Monday at Jennie Jaynes Stadium. The Gremlins tallied 70 points followed by Chilhowee's 39½, Cole Camp 23½, Leeton 12, Otterville 7, and Mercy of Marshall 7.

The locals will send qualifiers in 8 events and some 11 men. Both the 880-yd. Relay and Mile Relays turned in qualifying times against the cold wind.

Individually, Martin Hogan turned in three winning performances, including a new Sacred Heart Broad Jump record of 20'11". Other victories came in the High Jump and 60-yd. Dash where he shared honors with team-mate Dave Kemp with 06.9.

Pat Crim was a double hurdle winner for the Red and White. Chilhowee's Courtney brothers qualified, Dave in the Pole Vault with a 10'10" effort and in the 880-yd. run, while brother Edward grabbed 2nd place honors in High Jump.

Cole Camp dominated the Long Jump with three of its Bluebirds taking places while Larry Wood took the shot with a 40'6" heave. Leeton's Gary Powers and Ken DesComb took 1-2 finishes in the Mile run.

The SH gang took eight firsts, besides the Crim and Hogan performances, Bill Heer came from behind to cop 880-yd. honors. The Grems dominated the 60-yd. Dash as Hogan and Kemp took the qualifying spots while Crim and Dave Wiesing tied for third.

To Choose a Team

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — White and nonwhite selectors will meet here at the end of July to choose a mixed South African team for the Summer Olympics in Mexico City, the South African Amateur Athletic Union announced Monday night.

A committee headed by Matt Mare, president of the union, will select a mixed team after a July European tour by separate white and nonwhite teams. Some 41 nations have said they would boycott the Olympics over South Africa's apartheid policy.

All-Stars Will Meet S-C Faculty

The Smith-Cotton Lettermen Club will play host Thursday evening, at the annual Faculty-All Star Basketball Game, to be held in the S-C gym, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

This year the All-Star Team, composed of senior boys or lettermen who participated in the Basketball Intramural program, promises to be one of the best. George Williams and Tom Munson, two varsity basketball lettermen, are coaching the All Stars and feel they can beat the undefeated faculty.

Bob Edmondson, player-coach of the faculty, states that with such teamsters as Wes "Swivel Hips" Sanders, Ralph "Strong Arm" Schultz, Fred "The Log" Long, not to mention "Flat Tire" Foster McGuire, "Smoothie" Smithson, and Earl "Deadeye" Finley, that the All Stars will have their work cut out for them.

"Furthermore," says Edmondson, "we have even more great talent such as Morris 'The Bomber' Byrum and Larry 'Swisher' Whitesides, along with Tom 'Tiger' Bukkrühl and Paul 'Skeeter' Schwartz. We know these seniors are good, but in the past, they just haven't been good enough."

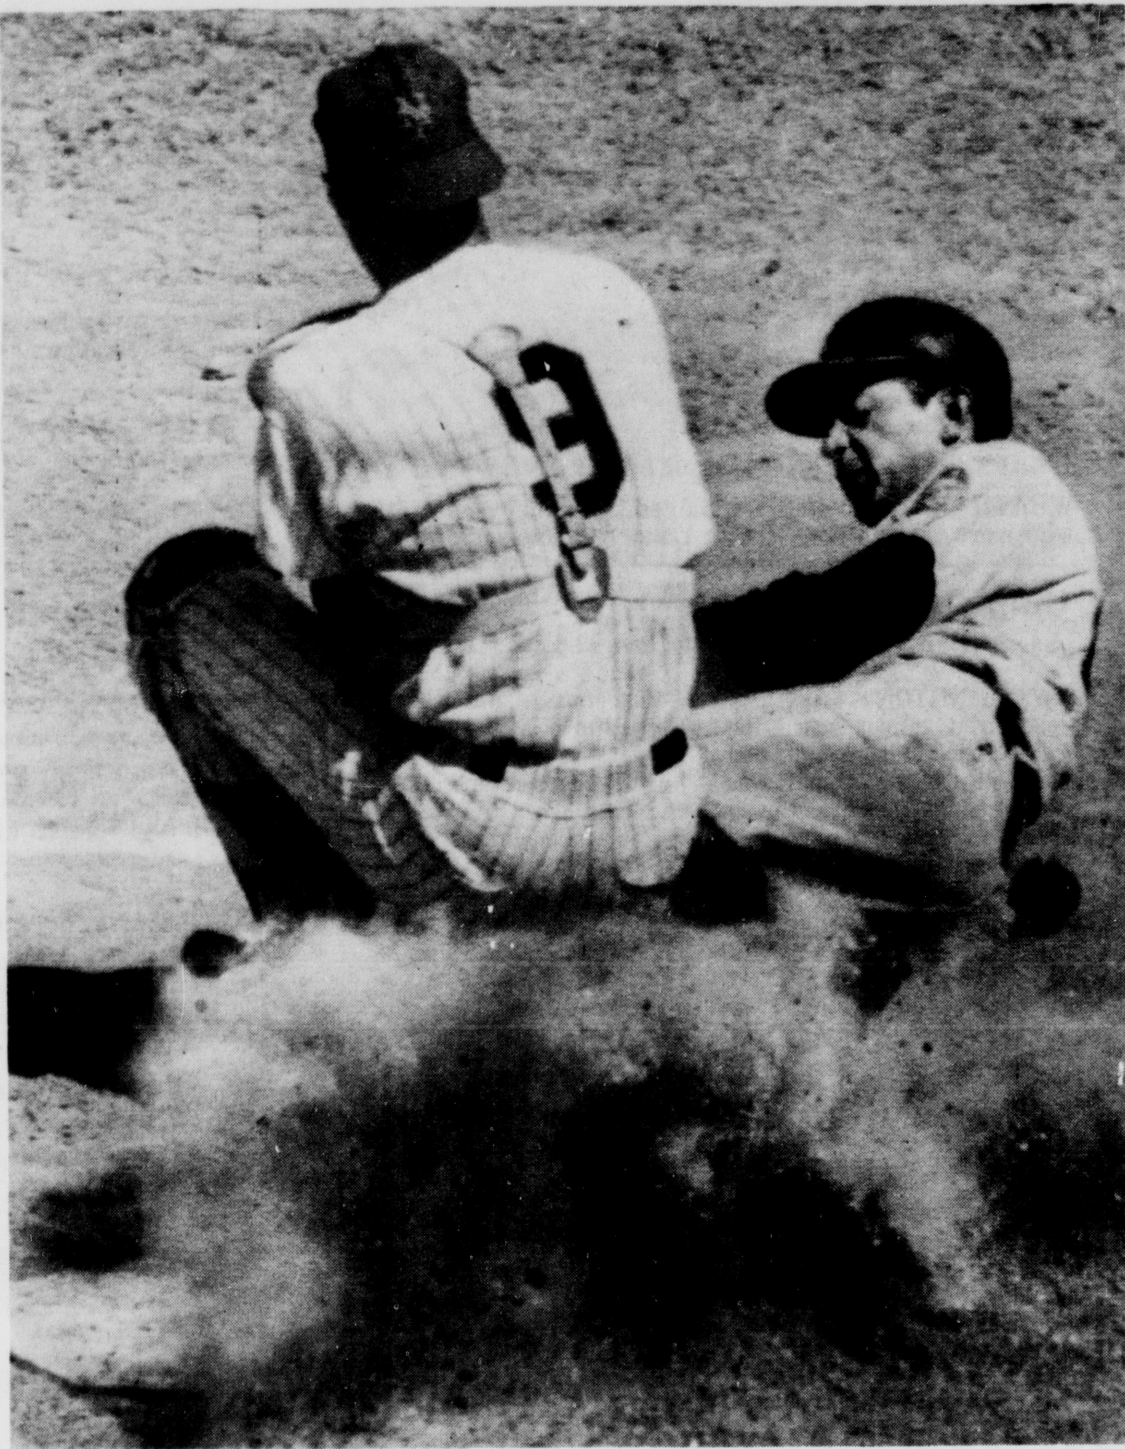

The activities will get underway at 7:30 when the "L" Club, under President Dennis Boehne will present a surprise gift to the student body, as is their yearly custom in keeping with the "L" Club's motto of school service-community leadership. During the halftime, the women faculty members will play a short volleyball game against the Senior Spiz Pep Club, and music will be furnished by the "L" Club band.

Tim Purcell, S-C faculty sponsor of the "L" Club, stated that this event promises to be a great evening of entertainment for all of those who attend. "Tickets," he said, "are now on sale at noon in the Smith-Cotton Cafeteria by 'L' Club members, or may be purchased the night of the game at the Gym door."

Carl Lundholm Dies Pros Top Classic

DURHAM, N.H. (AP) — Carl Lundholm, professor emeritus of athletics and physical education at the University of New Hampshire, is dead at the age of 70.

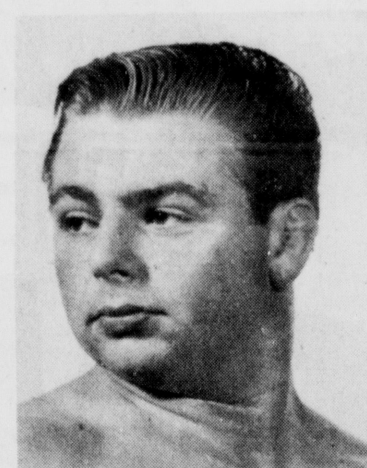

Lundholm, who retired in 1963, died Monday. He was on the university faculty for 39 years and was athletic director for 23 years.

Wrestling Card Promises Action

Bobby Shane

Ronnie Etchison

What promises to be one of the hardest-fought, wildest wrestling programs of the season is on tap tonight at Convention Hall.

Appearance of several of the area's top-rated grapplers assures a bruising pace for the five-match extravaganza which will get under way at 8:15.

Dual tag team clashes will share main event status. In one of them, an all-heavyweight affair, veteran Ronnie Etchison will join third-year pro Bobby Shane to tackle the power-minded tandem of Bob Geigel and Natureboy Rogers Kirby.

In the other, a girl grappler and a male midget will make up the opposing units. Polling talents to form one tandem will be Bett Niccoli, aggressive Kansas City mainstar, and the Mighty Atom, 100 pounds of ringfire who attempts to live up to his colorful name everytime he steps through the ropes. They'll be going opposite Jean Antone and her tiny partner, Cowboy Lang.

Both the feature matches are scheduled over the best of three-falls route.

Shane will try his hand against the rugged Kirby in another battle. That figures to be one of the more exciting pairings, along with the team action. The 23-year-old Shane is pointing for greater area recognition and a verdict over the Indianapolis pro would serve him well.

Other individual clashes will pit Niccoli against Antone, and Mighty Atom against Cowboy Lang.

IOC President Vetoes Meeting

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — A majority of the members of the International Olympic Committee's executive board has called for a meeting of the entire IOC to consider the South African problem, but IOC President Avery Brundage says no.

Any decision to call a meeting of the full IOC will have to be made by the board when it meets to discuss the withdrawal of more than 40 nations because of the IOC's decision to readmit South Africa to the Mexico games in October.

"It is possible for the president to call a full meeting, but he won't," said Brundage in Chicago. Brundage said he was surprised that the five members had called for the full meeting.

He said he had discussed calling an executive board meeting here on April 20. Those calling for the meeting of the full IOC say an executive board meeting makes little sense since only the full IOC can vote to change the decision to readmit South Africa.

1968 Senators Have Strength

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — If basketball or football was the Washington Senators' game, they'd be a tough bunch to bring down.

Physically, the 1968 Senators should dwarf American League rivals—from 6-foot-5 Jim Lemon, their rookie manager, down the line. If they stand half as tall against opposing pitchers, Washington could muscle into the first division for the first time in 22 years.

Gil Hodges accomplished a minor miracle last year, piloting the Senators to a share of sixth place. Then he moved on to New York, where the Mets were sorely in need of a miracle worker.

Lemon, former Washington outfielder and Minnesota coach, inherits a team that batted .223, worst in the majors, and had the second lowest pitching rating in the American League.

Big Jim could sustain the upward swing started by his predecessor—if the king-size Senators add a few points to their bite-size batting averages and the pitchers trim down their fat ERAs.

Frank Howard, the man mountain of the Washington outfield at 6-7 and 260 pounds, provided most of the offensive punch last season, batting .256, slamming 36 homers and driving in 89 runs. He'll be back in left field after a 10-day holdout that netted him a $47,500 salary—highest in the club's history.

First baseman Mike Epstein, who fell short of his rave rookie notices after Baltimore dealt him to the Senators, stands 6-3½ and has trimmed down from 230 to 220 pounds. Rookie second baseman Frank Coggins is 6-2 and 185; recently acquired shortstop Ron Hansen, 6-3 and 200, and returning third sacker Ken McMullen, 6-3 and 195.

Fred Valentine, Hank Allen, Cap Peterson, Sam Bowens, Ed Stroud and rookie Del Unser, candidates for the other two outfield positions, average 6-1 and 190. Regular catcher Paul Casanova comes in at 6-4, 200, and Bill Bryan, his probable back-up man, is 6-4 and 215. Reliever Casey Cox, 6-5, is high man on a tall order pitching staff.

Epstein, who hit only .226 with nine homers, in 105 games with Washington, could be the key to the Senators' 1968 prospects. "He was too tight—trying too hard to make good," Lemon said. "All he has to do is relax, be himself, and he'll be the hitter he was when he was Mr. All-Everything in the minors."

Coggins came up from Hawaii at the tail end of the season and swatted .307. Subsequently, the Senators traded holdover second baseman Tim Cullen to the Chicago White Sox for Hansen, whose .233 mark was 45 points higher than glove man Ed Brinkman hit for Washington.

"Hansen gives us another bat in the infield," said General Manager George Selkirk. "He does most of his hitting when it counts most."

McMullen got the most out of a .245 average, drilling 16 homers and accounting for 67 RBI. Casanova, a workhorse in 141 games behind the plate, had 53 RBI and a .248 mark.

Bowens, acquired from the Orioles, will battle returnees Valentine, .234, Allen, .233, Peterson, .240, and Stroud, .212, for the right and center field posts. Unser, up from the Eastern League, also could make the club, along with utility men Bob Saverine, Dick Nen, Bernie Allen and Bob Chance.

The pitching staff, led by veterans Camilo Pascual, 12-10, and Phil Ortega, 10-10, and newcomers Dick Bosman, 3-1, and Frank Bertaina, 7-6, shows promise despite a mediocre combined ERA of 3.38 last year. Relief ace Darold Knowles was snatched by the Air Force, but Dave Baldwin, 1.70 ERA, will be back in the bullpen with Cox and winter pickup Dennis Higgins.

Barry Moore, Joe Coleman, Bill Denney, Steve Jones and Bob Humphreys are other contenders for the mound corps.

Lemon expects Howard and McMullen, with help from Epstein and Casanova, to produce more runs than the Washington pitchers yield this year. If the heavyweights come through and the Hansen-Coggins double play combination clicks, the Senators conceivably could move into the upper reaches of the AL.

Home Games Take On New Meaning

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The vagabond Philadelphia Flyers, this city's beloved but road-weary traveling show, are currently playing the role of "Good Skate." But don't bet the rent money it will last.

The Flyers, a surprisingly good expansion team in the National Hockey League, are playing home games everywhere but in Philadelphia because their sports arena, The Spectrum, is temporarily closed for repairs.

And while the team is jumping from city to city, patience among the fans, players and management is growing short. "The fans are for the Flyers, but they wouldn't blame us if we moved to Quebec (the Flyers' farm team site)," said a spokesman for the Flyers. "The players are not content."

"And president Bill Putnam has said he will move the team out of the city if the Spectrum isn't ready soon."

The Flyers' spokesman said the general feeling among players was that the Spectrum's troubles were "political."

The Spectrum, only six months old, has been beset by accidents. Within 14 days last month, high winds ripped holes in its roof twice.

Mayor James H.J. Tate ordered the infant sports palace closed for safety reasons, until it could be repaired to meet the standards of the city's building code.

The Flyers, however, believe the city is over-extending itself. The Flyers last played on Spectrum ice on Feb. 29 against Los Angeles. Since then, five Spectrum games have been relocated in New York, Toronto and Quebec.

The Flyers, currently leading the West Division of the NHL, may have to play their Stanley Cup playoff games in other cities.

"And that wouldn't be too conducive to morale," said the spokesman.

Will the Flyers leave the city? "It could happen if this trouble continues," he said.

Showdown With Golfers, PGA Barely Averted

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP)—A showdown between the PGA and big name golfers on its pro tour was averted Monday when the PGA backed off from plans to have the golfers sign away long-term television rights.

The PGA said a new tournament entry form was to have been used at the Citrus Open in Orlando, Fla., which begins Thursday.

The new form required players to commit themselves into the indeterminate future for all television rights. Golfers now waive rights for each single tournament as they enter. Pro golfers do not receive direct television payments for PGA tournaments except what is included in their winnings.

There were reports circulating after the Doral Open in Miami that players would not sign the new contracts, the latest skirmish in a long series of disputes between the PGA (Professional Golfers Association) and players on the pro tour. Golfers have demanded more voice in conduct of the tour.

Houston Is Tops In AP Cage Poll

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Houston which has held the top position since upsetting defending champion UCLA Jan. 20, wound up in the No. 1 spot today in the final Associated Press major college basketball poll.

The Cougars, who have romped past 29 opponents without a loss this season, received 253 points, 12 more than UCLA, which was a clear-cut choice for the top spot last season when it went unbeaten.

Houston's total was built on 19 votes for first and seven for second. UCLA's figures were the exact opposite.

St. Bonaventure, at 23-0 the only other undefeated team in the country, placed third, but only one other team, No. 9 Louisville, retained its spot from last week.

Kentucky, which was idle last week, and North Carolina, winner of the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament, switched places, Kentucky slipping to fifth and North Carolina moving into fourth.

Duke, the 12-10 victim of an effective North Carolina State stall, plummeted from sixth to 60th, creating a shift among three other positions.

New Mexico climbed into sixth and Columbia into seventh, each advancing one notch, while Davidson leapt from past Louisville, from 10th to eighth.

All members of the Top Ten have concluded their regular-season schedules, but all are involved in post-season play. Duke begins play against Oklahoma City in the National Invitation Tournament Thursday night while the others compete in the NCAA tournament this weekend.

Houston started its bid to succeed UCLA as the national champion last Saturday with a 94-76 victory over Chicago Loyola. UCLA, meanwhile, was winding up its regular schedule with a 72-64 triumph over Southern California and a 25-1 record.

St. Bonaventure, Columbia and Davidson also won first-round NCAA contests.

The final Top Ten with first-place votes in parentheses and total points:

1. Houston (19) 253
2. UCLA (7) 241
3. St. Bonaventure 185
4. North Carolina 179
5. Kentucky 147
6. New Mexico 85
7. Columbia 82
8. Davidson 77
9. Louisville 70
10. Duke 42

In the National Basketball Association, Chicago turned back Cincinnati 104-98 and Boston bowled over Seattle 119-112.

Denver opened up a 35-22 lead over Dallas in the first period and pulled 1½ games ahead of the third-place Chaparrals and to within 2½ of division-leading New Orleans.

Larry Jones paced the Rockets with 26 points and Wayne Hightower added 23. Dallas Player-Coach Cliff Hagan had 31 in a losing cause.

Kentucky's hot-shooting guards, Louie Dampier and Darel Carrier, scored 30 and 28 points, respectively, in the Colonels' triumph over Oakland. Carrier's total included two three-point baskets.

Jim Ligon added 21 points as the Colonels surged to a 10-point lead after one period and led the rest of the way. Andy Anderson had 24 for the Oaks, whose defeat dropped them into the Western Division cellar.

The Panthers, winners of the 1966 Championship, have a 25-3 record plus an 18-game winning streak. They play unranked American International of Springfield, Mass., in the first round. The Yellow Jackets are 21-4.

The game opens Wednesday's evening show at Roberts Municipal Stadium at 8 p.m., EST, followed by the Evansville Purple Aces, 20-7, facing Trinity's Tigers of San Antonio, 21-6. The Aces are ranked No. 8 and the Tigers No. 10.

In afternoon openers starting at 2:30 p.m., EST, the Cheyenne State Wolves of Pennsylvania, 22-6, meet the Ashland Eagles of Ohio, 22-5, and the ninth-ranked Indiana State Sycamores, 21-7, clash with the Nevada Southern Rebels, 22-6.

Hutchinson Claims Spot in Tournament

CHANUTE, Kan. (AP)—Hutchinson claimed a spot in the National Junior College Tournament by beating Neosho County 94-88 Monday night for a 2-0 sweep of the Region 6 playoffs.

It was Hutchinson's 23rd straight victory and made its season record 24-1. Neosho closed with a 23-8 record and ended a 22-game home court winning streak that extended into last season.

Johnny Robinson hit 24 points and Russell Clark 23 for Hutchinson. For Neosho, Walter Hawkins counted 25 and Skip Brandon 23.

Five Cage Stars Pass Olympics

NEW YORK (AP)—The number of college basketball stars who will pass up their chance to make the U.S. Olympic team has grown to five while Life Magazine quotes Lew Alcindor as "not wanting to get caught in the middle" of the growing Olympic boycott movement.

Westley Unseld, the two-time All-American from Louisville said Monday in Louisville, Ky. that he was "weary" from playing and that he would pass up the Olympic trials later this month in Albuquerque, N.M.

Concentrating on school work was the reason given by Alcindor and his UCLA teammates Mike Warren and Lucius Allen for not trying out for the team. But Life said the trio admitted their refusal was "implicit approval of the boycott."

J. D. Morgan, athletic director at UCLA, said the three players decision not to enter the trials "was entirely scholastic. They'd miss eight days of school they couldn't afford to miss," Morgan said.

Alcindor, Warren, Allen and Unseld are Negroes. The fifth player to say he would not try out for the Olympic team was Neal Walk of Florida who is white.

In New York Monday, Columbia Coach Jack Rohan said his star sophomore, Jim McMillian, was also considering passing up the trials to concentrate on studying. McMillian is a Negro.

ABA Preliminary Draft Was Held Last Weekend

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Although Commissioner George Mikan preferred to call it an "evaluation session," it was learned Monday that the American Basketball Association held a preliminary draft last weekend at Louisville.

Each of the 11 ABA clubs claimed negotiation rights to about four of the nation's top college players for purposes of trying to sign them to contracts as soon as their collegiate competition ends.

For some seniors this is not until the end of the NCAA, NIT and NAIA tournaments. Others have already finished this season's play.

"Technically, this is not our draft," Mikan said from ABA headquarters here. "We had an evaluation session of ballplayers. We exchanged notes, getting ourselves prepared for our annual draft, which will be April 27 in Los Angeles."

"We had to allow our people to start talking to some of these players as soon as they become available. I at least want our boys to have a chance to talk to them. We don't want to lose them before we have a chance to talk to them."

Mikan said he had information from college players that Commissioner Walter Kennedy of the rival National Basketball Association is already contacting players and telling them the NBA wants them.

Balanced Farming Families Honored

The gathering Friday evening of many who had been in the balanced farming program through the years, those who are on the staff of the Pettis County Extension Center of the University Missouri now and previously, was a reunion as well as a time when several farm families were honored.

Lloyd Lewellen, agriculture agent, who for many years was balanced farming agent, presented the balanced farming awards from the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, to Mr. and Joseph Westemeier, LaMonte and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Longan, Route 3. Also receiving the award were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kahrs who were unable to be present. The awards were plaques and these people will later be guests of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce.

Receiving the progress awards were Mr. and Mrs. James Reed, Green Ridge; Mrs. and Mrs. Larry Wilson, Route 4, Sedalia; Mrs. Marvin Goodwin and son, Bill Goodwin. They received certificates of achievement.

W. H. Taylor, sales representative of the Gulf Oil Corporation presented awards to those who were in balanced farming ten years ago: Mr. and Mrs. Philip Imhauser, Houstonia; Mr. and Mrs. Orin Chappell Route 4, Sedalia; and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Meyers, Mora. These were framed pictures.

The meeting, which was held in the Horace Mann School dining room, was preceded by a covered dish dinner.

Invocation was given by Frank Van Dyke.

Lewellen, who was responsible for the meeting, sending invitations to those who had been in balanced farming through the years, presided. During the evening he showed a few slides of farm families and groups.

Merle Vaughan, for a number of years was county agent here, and Mrs. Vaughan, now of Montgomery City, Estel Hudson, who was on the staff at the Extension Center, and Mrs. Hudson, Warrensburg, and Jack

Man Escapes From Guards At Airport

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A spokesman for the Army said one man escaped Monday from guards at Lambert-St. Louis airport as he was being returned to Ft. Leonard Wood.

The public information officer, Ken Clayton, identified the missing man as Pvt. Wyatt M. Costello. Clayton said another man was involved in the incident. He was identified as Pvt. Jimmy L. Kuydenboll, also of Ft. Leonard Wood.

Clayton reconstructed events this way: The two men were released from their bonds by a military policeman, PFC. Mavel E. Wadell, so they could go to the latrine. Wadell had his gun wrestled away and Costello fled.

The spokesman said Wadell retrieved his gun and fired a warning shot, but Costello fled. Kuydenboll stayed in custody.

In Ranks

Lt. James L. Rehkop, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Rehkop of Knob Noster, is a member of an organization which has earned the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award. Lieutenant Rehkop, a navigator in the 437th Military Airlift Wing at Charleston AFB, S. C., will wear a distinctive service ribbon to mark his affiliation with the unit. The unit was cited for achieving an exceptionally meritorious rating for distinguished service during a one-year period.

The "Printers' Bible" was one issued prior to 1702 in which "printers" appeared for the word "princes" in the 161st verse of Psalm 119.

Marks of War

Though riddled with the scars of war, this armored personnel carrier was still in action at Khe Sahn. Communist guerrillas penetrated the barbed wire outer perimeter of Khe Sahn Monday and planted loudspeakers through which they urged South Vietnamese Rangers to defect. The Rangers replied with mortar fire that silenced the enemy propaganda. (UPI)

Honor the Irish At Niagara Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP)—The American and Horseshoe Falls will be bathed in green light next Saturday and Sunday nights in observance of St. Patrick's Day.

Each year around the anniversary of the death of Ireland's patron saint, officials use only green filters over the 20 searchlights that illuminate the cataracts.

Last Week To Reduce Grain Land

WASHINGTON (AP)—This week will bring to a close an Agriculture Department campaign to get farmers to reduce production of wheat and feed grain and to increase production of cotton.

Growers can sign agreements through March 15 to idle some of their wheat and feed grain land to reduce production below last year's record levels in an effort to bolster prices of their crops.

In the case of cotton, the department seeks a somewhat larger acreage than was grown last year because surpluses no longer exist.

Farmers idling specified portions of their crop land will be eligible for government payments and price supports.

Don't Neglect Slipping FALSE TEETH

Do false teeth drop, slip or wobble when you talk, eat, laugh or sneeze? Don't be annoyed and embarrassed by such handicaps. FASTEETH, an alkaline (non-acid) powder to sprinkle on your plates, keeps false teeth more firmly set. Gives confident feeling of security and added comfort. No gummy, gooey taste or feeling. Dentures that fit are essential to health. See your dentist regularly. Get FASTEETH at all drug counters.
